

日本英語音声学会第 16 回全国大会兼第 2 回国際英語音声学者会議
16th National Conference of the English Phonetic Society of Japan and Second International Congress of Phoneticians of English

Dates: 5-6 November 2011

Venue: Media Hall, Kochi University, Japan

Day 1: 5 November 2011

9:00 Registration

10:00 Opening Ceremony

10:15-11:15 Keynote Lecture 1

Hyun Bok Lee (CBE)

Professor Emeritus of Phonetics and Linguistics,
Seoul National University

A Phonetic Survey of Japanese Mispronunciation of English –English Vowels and Speech Rhythm–

11:30-12:30 Keynote Lecture 2

John Wells

Professor Emeritus of Phonetics, University College London
Former President, International Phonetic Association

From Cockney to Multicultural London English

12:30-14:00 Lunch Time

14:00-15:00 Keynote Lecture 3

Masanori Toyota

Professor Emeritus, Kyoto University

Professor and Director of Intercultural Research Institute,
Kansai Gaidai University

Reading through Sounds: A Phonostylistic Approach to English Poetry–A Case Study of British War Poems

15:15-16:15 Keynote Lecture 4

Patricia Ashby

Emeritus Fellow to the University of Westminster

Phonetics and the Flipped Classroom

16:30-17:30 Paper Session A Room 1, Sogo Kenkyu Building

16:30 Paper 1

Yuichi Todaka, Miyazaki Municipal University

A Report on our Revised Summer Intensive English Program at Miyazaki Municipal University

17:00 Paper 2

Tsutomu Watanabe, Takushoku University

Three Reasons Why the Teaching of Rhythm and Intonation are Shunned in the Teaching of English

17:30 Paper 3

Mamiko Akita-Orii, Waseda University

Kyoko Oga, Hokkaido University of Education

A Comparison of Three Different Methods of Teaching Listening Comprehension

16:30-18:00 Paper Session B Room 2, Sogo Kenkyu Building

16:30 Paper 4

Yasuhito Ishii, Chikushi Jogakuen University

Some Findings from Teaching a Student with Articulatory Disorder

17:00 Paper 5

Yoshinari Fujino

Individual Synchronic Variability Patterns across Speakers in the First Formant (F1) of RP

17:30 Paper 6

Atsushi Tsutsumi, Kumamoto University PhD Student

Prosodic Phrasing of the Contact Clause of Japanese EFL Learners

19:00-21:00 Party

Day 2: 6 November 2011

9:00-10:00 Keynote Lecture 5

Ho-young Lee

Professor, Seoul National University

Evaluation of Korean Learners' English Accentuation

10:15-11:15 Keynote Lecture 6

Eric Zee

Professor, City University of Hong Kong

Articulatory Characteristics of the Coronal Stops and Sibilants in Chinese and English

11:30-12:30 Keynote Lecture 7

Kazuhiko Matsuno

Professor Emeritus, University of Tokyo

Vice President and Professor,

Nagoya University of Foreign Studies

Prosodic Features of English as Expressed in Popular Songs

12:30-13:30 Lunch Time

13:30-14:30 Keynote Lecture 8

Michael Ashby

Honorary Senior Lecturer in Phonetics, University College
London

The Earliest Links between Japanese and the UCL Department of Phonetics

14:45-15:45 Keynote Lecture 9

Jane Setter

Senior Lecturer and Director of English Pronunciation Unit,
University of Reading

Teaching English Pronunciation

16:00-17:00 Keynote Lecture 10

Tadao Murata

Professor Emeritus, Kyushu Institute of Technology

RP, GA, Amalgam English or International English?

17:15-18:45 Paper Session C Room 1, Sogo Kenkyu Building

17:15 Paper 7

Takahiro Ioroi, University of Kochi

*Distributions of Word Stress Patterns in L1 and L2
Varieties of English*

17:45 Paper 8

Nobuo Yuzawa, Utsunomiya University

Akiyo Joto, Prefectural University of Hiroshima

The Intelligibility Level and Acoustic Features of the English Rising Tone Produced by Japanese Learners

17:15 Paper 9

Yusuke Shibata, Fukuoka Jo Gakuin University

Masaki Taniguchi, Kochi University

Use of Multimedia PDF in Teaching and Learning English Pronunciation, Rhythm and Intonation

17:15-18:45 Paper Session D Room 2, Sogo Kenkyu Building

17:15 Paper 10

Tomoko Hori, Tokyo National College of Technology

Kaori Sugiura, Shizuoka University of Art and Culture

Auditory Priming Effect in Japanese Learners of English: Effect of Voice-Specificities and Word Stress Patterns

17:45 Paper 11

Kazuaki Ichizaki, Miyazaki Gakuen Junior College

An Acoustic Study of the Eloquence of President Obama in His Speeches Proclaiming World Peace

18:45 Closing Ceremony